CONTRIBUTORS TO THIS ISSUE

IVOR GUEST is an English lawyer and a distinguished historian of the nineteenth-century ballet; of more than a dozen books on the subject that he has written, the most recent is Fanny Elssler, which was published in 1970 by T. L. Black in England and by the Wesleyan University Press in the United States.

HELEN E. HAWORTH, Associate Professor of English at the University of Waterloo, is the author of a number of articles on Keats, including "Emerson's Keats," which appeared in the January 1971 issue of the HARVARD LIBRARY BULLETIN.

LEO M. KAISER is Professor of Classical Studies at Loyola University of Chicago.

AKIKO MURAKATA has been a Fellow in American Studies at Smith College, a Research Assistant at George Washington University, a Predoctoral Intern at the Smithsonian Institution, and a Teaching Assistant at Harvard; her dissertation at George Washington (1971) was "The Selected Letters of Dr. William Sturgis Bigelow."

STEPHEN M. POPPEL is a graduate student at Harvard, where he is writing a dissertation on "Nationalism and Identity; German Zionism, 1897-1933."

FRITZ REDLICH is the author or editor of a score of volumes and of numerous articles, including contributions to several previous issues of the HARVARD LIBRARY BULLETIN; his Steeped in Two Cultures, A Selection of Essays, was published in 1971 by Harper & Row.

CORRIGENDUM

In the October 1972 issue (XX:4, 436 — "Browning's 'Sicilian Pastoral,'" by John Maynard), the original manuscript of Browning's "Sicilian Pastoral" should have been described as a part of the Amy Lowell Collection, which is now housed in a special room in the Houghton Library.
