MARIO BANNONI, a sixth generation Roman, specializes in the Italian Risorgimento and the Roman Republic. An independent researcher and historian of the Roman Republic of 1849, he is president of the Italian Margaret Fuller Bicentennial Committee; in 2010 he organized the conference held at Rome in the Fatebenefratelli Hospital “Margaret Fuller Ossoli, le donne e l’impegno civile nella Roma risorgimentale” (M.F.O., the women and the civil engagement in the Rome of the Risorgimento), in which he was the keynote speaker. He is coauthor with Gabriella Mariotti of Margaret Fuller’s biography Vi scrivo da una Roma barricata (I write to you from a barricaded Rome), 2012; and author of a forthcoming article on “Margaret Fuller and the Question of Marriage,” and a forthcoming monograph “Giorni d’Amore e di Gloria, Corrispondenze di Margaret Fuller dalla Repubblica Romana” (Days of love and glory, correspondence of Margaret Fuller from the Roman Republic).

DAVID KING DUNAWAY is Professor of English at the University of New Mexico, having earned the first doctorate in American Studies at the University of California Berkeley. He is author and editor of ten volumes, including biographies of Aldous Huxley and Pete Seeger. His popular writings have appeared in publications from Country Music to the New York Times.

STEPHANIE SPONG is a Russell J. and Dorothy S. Bilinski Fellow in the Department of English at the University of New Mexico, where she is completing a dissertation on the love poem in literary modernism. Her work is forthcoming in the William Carlos Williams Review and Routledge Encyclopedia of Modernism.

ROGER E. STODDARD is Associate, Department of English, Harvard University. In 2004 he retired as Curator of Rare Books in the Harvard College Library, Senior Curator in the Houghton Library, and Senior Lecturer on English. His essay on “Livres perdus. (Lost Books.) Humoresque” is printed in Le Livre, La Photographie, L’Image & La Lettre: Essays in Honor of André Jammes (Paris: Aux Éditions des Cendres, 2015).

DAVID J. SUPINO is currently serving on the Councils of The Bibliographical Society of America and the Grolier Club. His most recent works are Henry James: A Bibliographical Catalogue of a Collection of Editions (2006), and the Second Edition, Revised of that work (2014).
